Compliments and Best Wishes of Mr. Jeff Hissong

1. Jeff Wright thinks the telephone is available exclusively for seniors. 2. Dean Nelson's imposing stance and haircut give Chad Agnes a momentary problem. 3. Listening carefully, Judy Woods catches up on the happenings on her favorite soap opera. 4. Curt Shepler and Vicki Foutty enjoy a good joke and their reputations as rowdie seniors. 5. The last few minutes of math class are not always used for studying. 6. A pretty smile from a pretty senior, Elise Meyer, makes even a gray day seem sunny. 7. Bill Pohovey and Kathy Brediger have never been known as camera shy! 8. Ruth Dorkoff and Wendy Border get in a few moments of conversation before class. 9. With the instruction manual in hand, Craig Tasseff, Todd Rentsch and Jorge Valencia feel they can handle any problem. 10. The Three Muskateers—Tammy Bulgrin, Linda Eversole and Patti Metz—pledge their loyalty to the class of '81.

This phrase was often heard by the two foreign exchange students, Heidi Syrjalahti of Finland and Jorge Valencia of Mexico, who graduated with the class of 1981. They both had previously finished school in their home countries and came to F.H.S. just for the experience.

Heidi, who was sponsored by the Rotary International Youth Exchange Program, lived with the Brediger family in Brewster and the Goodman's of Navarre. She was 16 years old when she arrived in the U.S. because Finnish students graduate after only nine years of school. Heidi's home is in Helsinki, the capital of Finland.

Jorge was from Torreon, Coahuila in Northern Mexico and was also sponsored by Rotary International. He spent his entire visit in the U.S. with the Talbott family of Navarre. Jorge planned to attend college to study mechanical engineering when he returned to Mexico in June.

Seniors Suffer from Bus-a-phobia

As always, bus-a-phobia hit epidemic proportions in the class of 1981. For those of you who don't know, bus-a-phobia is an uncontrollable fear of riding the bus. It seems that a senior will do just about anything to avoid riding the bus. Some walk, others catch a ride with a friend, and those fortunate enough, scrape together enough cash to buy their own car. Some seniors have even been known to ride to school with a teacher when their "wheels" were broken down. But, when all else fails, that old familiar senior's face appears at the bus stop only to hear the driver's endless chant, "another one rides the bus . . ."

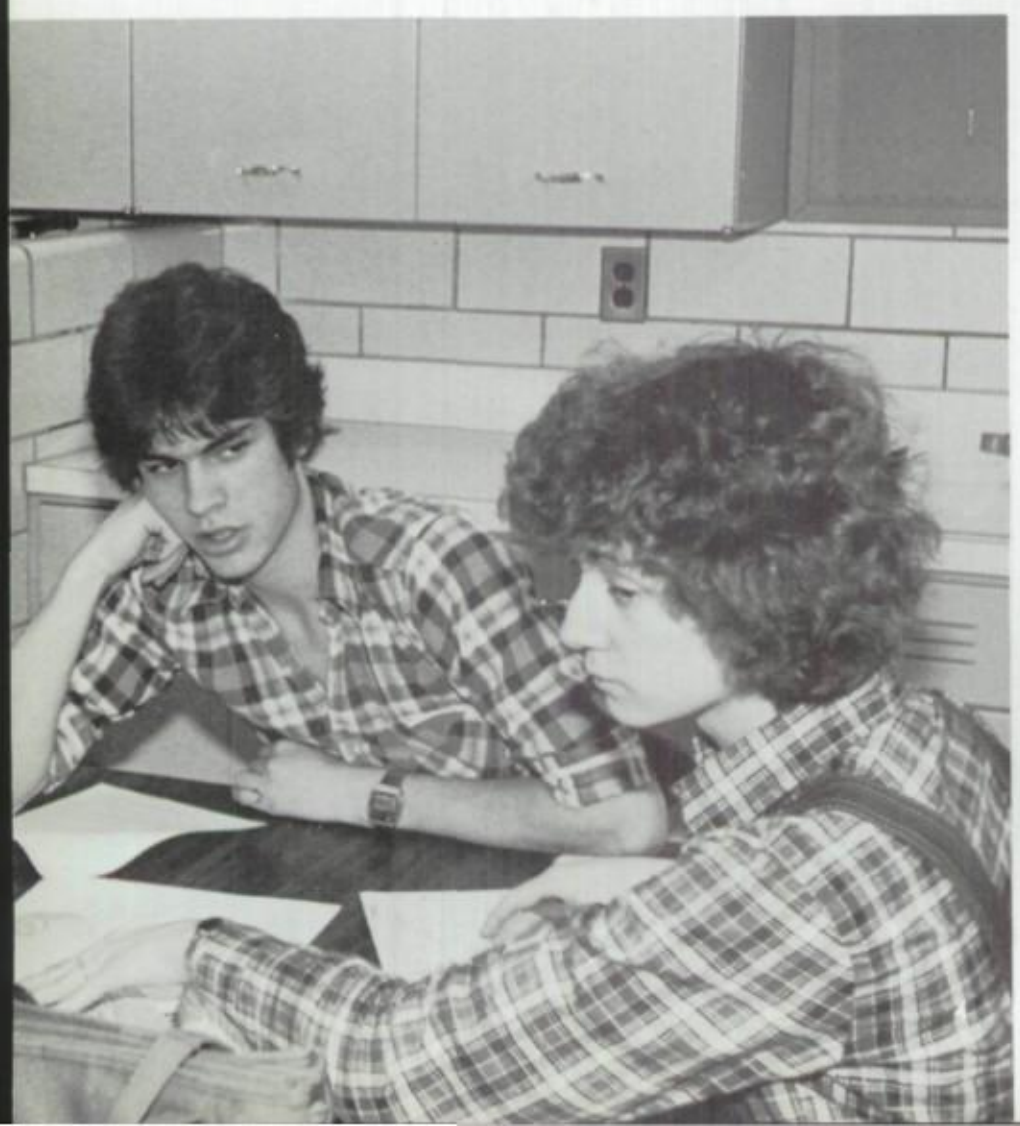
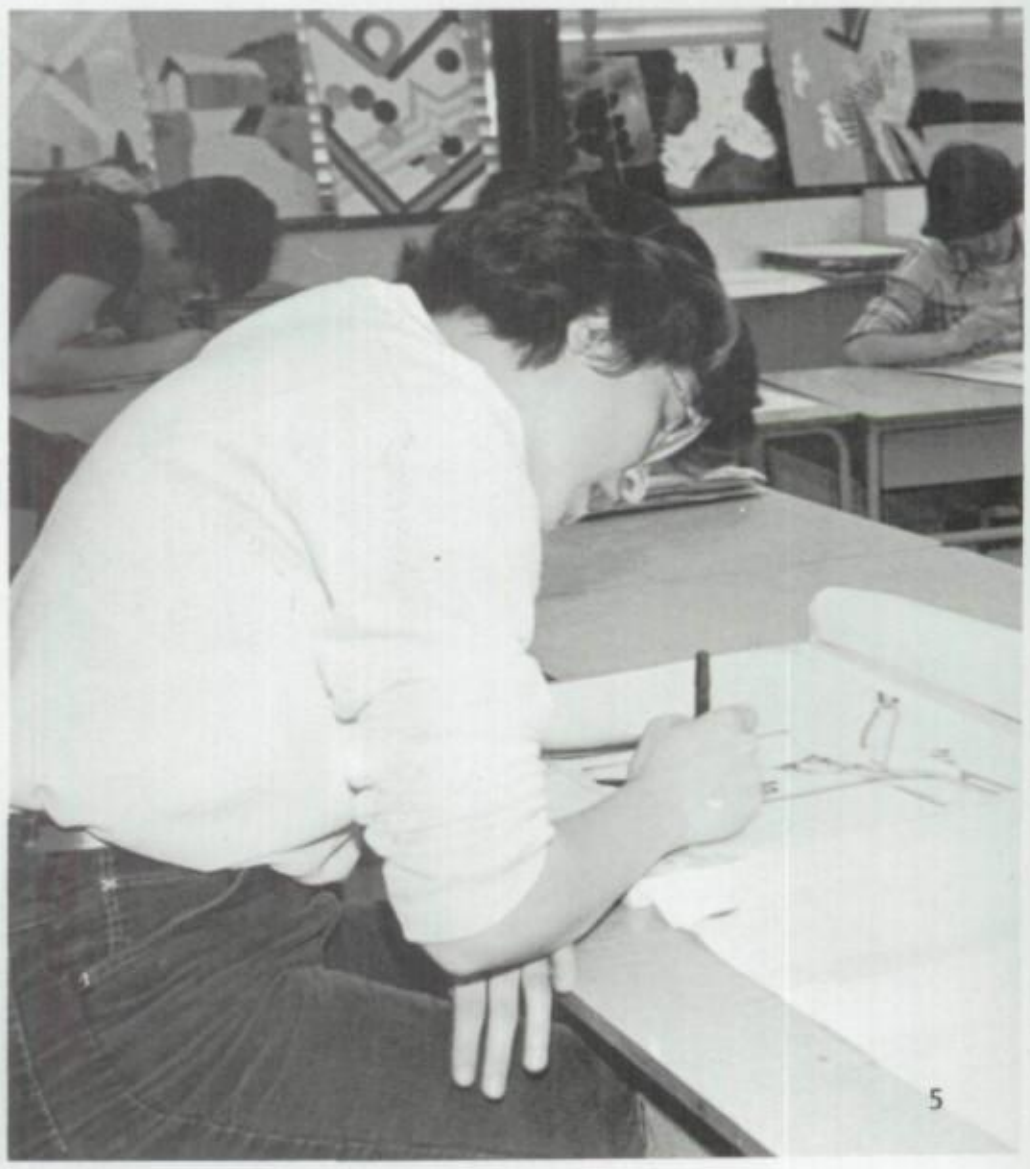
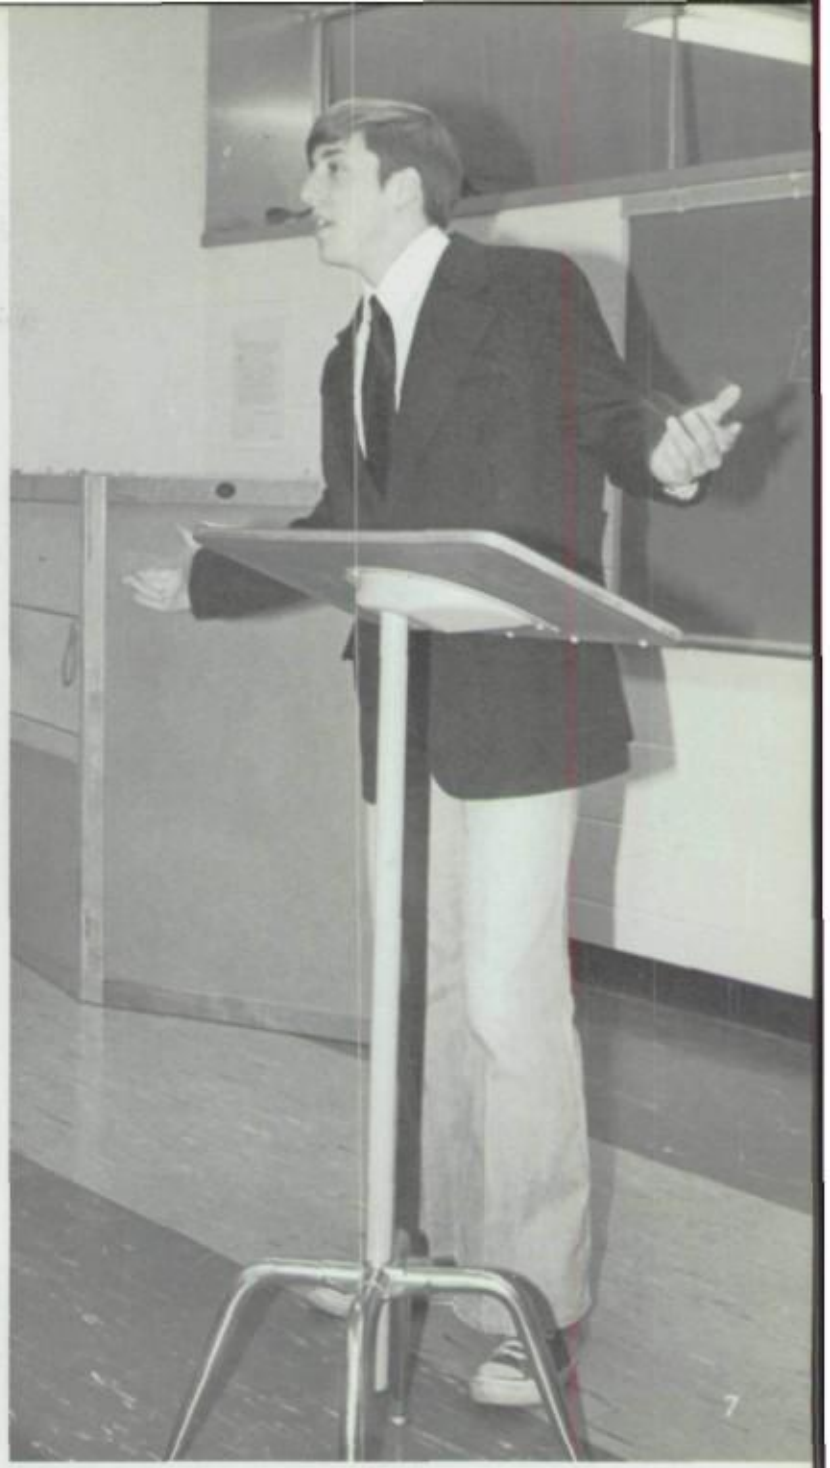
Gov't. Class Begins Early for Some

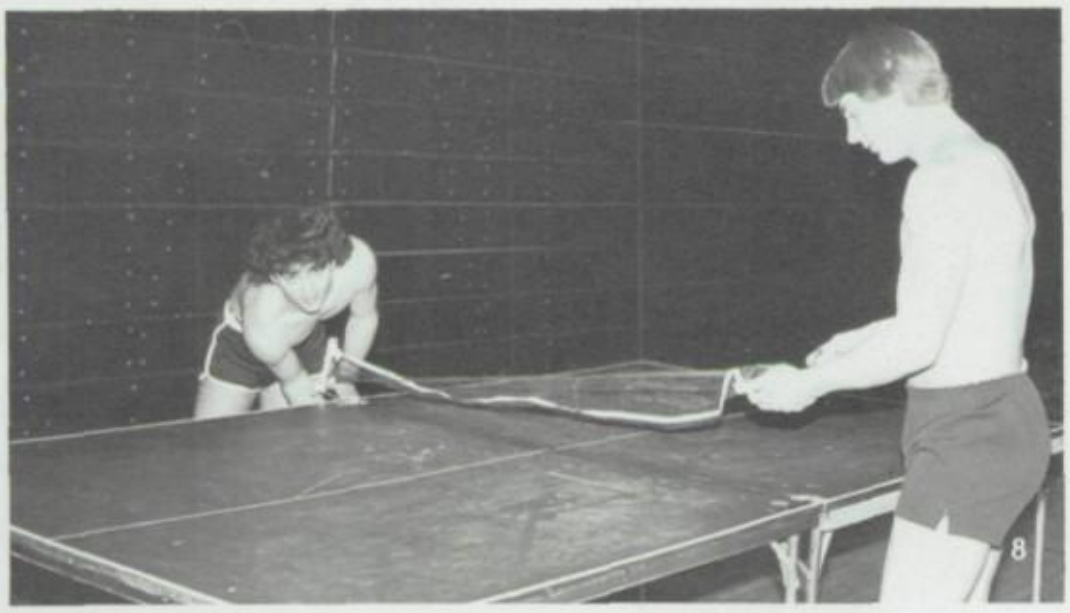
Ten Fairless seniors spent one week of their 1980 summer vacation experiencing how a state government runs. Four girls attended Buckeye Girl's State June 14-21 at Ashland College. Buckeye Boy's State was held at Bowling Green State University from June 21-29, with six Fairless boys in attendance.

Pictured in the front row along with their positions in the government are Lori Brode, county commissioner; Kathy Brediger, city attorney; Paul Talbott, county auditor; Stephanie Helline, state house of representatives; Mary-Ann Levengood, city fire marshall. Those standing are Craig Tasseff, city auditor; Mike Cline, city engineer; Bill Pohovey, state fire marshall; Curt Shepler, city auditor and Chris Zearly, state house of representatives.









1. Kathy Brediger finds some enjoyment in the letter she is reading. 2. "What's in this milkshake?" seems to be Jacquie Musacchia's reaction during lunch. 3. Greg Schumacher is startled by the cameraman, while Carla Viles concentrates on her lunch. 4. Although Don Whitmer appears to be quite calm, something is making Vicki Foutty a little uneasy. 5. Working on her art and singing to herself are the favorite pastimes of Ruth Dorkoff. 6. Jorge Valencia and Chris Zearly play a game of shuffleboard in advanced gym class. 7. Craig Tasseff pleads with his fellow students during a speech he gives. 8. Setting up the ping pong table for gym class are two mechanically inclined geniuses (?) Ken Wilson and Gary Pohovey. 9. Don Ewing tries his hand at mechanical drawing. 10. Wendi Morrison and Wendy Border hurry to lunch.

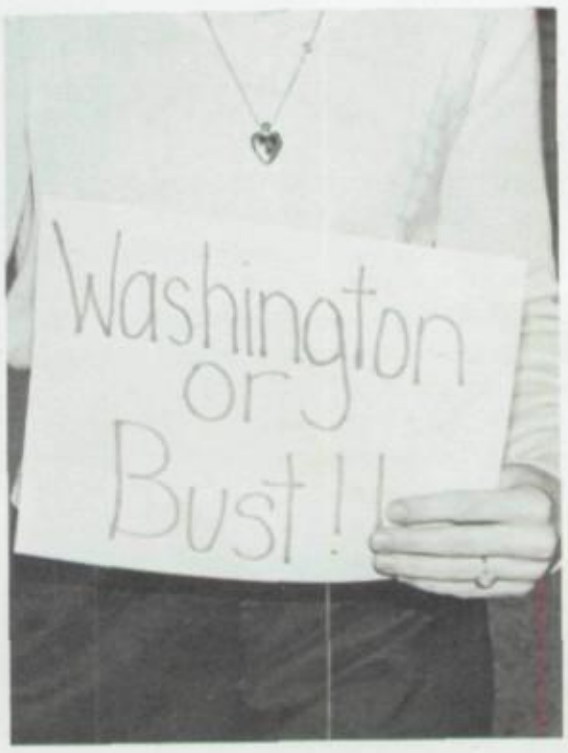
1. A familiar sight to all, the "Waahs" invade Fairless with their "good humor." 2. Brian Anstine and Dave Baker seem to be seriously involved in their nutritious school lunches. 3. Students at Fairless are usually known as farmers, but, as shown by Mike Berkey, the "urban cowboy" look is in. 4. The impish smile on Elain Schneider's face makes us wonder what she's hiding in the box! 5. Barb Rabel and Dan Miller appear to be ignoring the "hands off policy"—as usual. 6. Judy Woods and Julie Fritz show off their ladylike qualities on "dress up" day. 7. "You've got to be kidding" seems to be Julie Fritz's expression as Judie Snyder turns to look. 8. Senior Dan Poth takes time for a chat. 9. Mr. Gruber is apparently explaining some chemistry "mumbo-jumbo" to Frank Moulos. 10. Mike Cline's good time isn't helping Judy Woods' concentration.

Washington or Bust

The Senior Class Trip to Washington, D.C. was very successful this year thanks to the Seniors' Parents. Many money raising programs were developed and carried out by the students and parents. Such fund raisers included cider sales, community club awards, bake sales, a walk- a-thon, a style show, candy sales, beef and afghan raffles and a pizza sale.



The success of the trip was measured by the amount of fun everybody had. The trip was highlighted by our visit to the Smithsonian Institute, Mount Vernon, Washington Cathedral, Ford's Theater, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery, the Statue of Iwo Jima and the night tour of Washington.

Of course we will never forget the bus ride there and back and all the fun we had during free time.

Many people stopped and stared—when they saw this pair heading to school on Student Council's Halloween Dress-Up Day. Many students joined in the fun—and had a good time being somebody else for the day. Freshmen caught on quickly and came as clowns and others to take part in the fun.

It seems like Benny Wilmoth is always in the trash can! Freshmen just cannot seem to get their acts together. They need to study, observe and then follow the excellent examples of behavior as demonstrated by all the upperclassmen. Sophomores, juniors and seniors gave up their childish ways along with the tag of "freshmen."

Mr. Hissong, more commonly known as Senor, has received a great reputation during his many years at F.H.S. Senor not only teaches Spanish to all the little bambinos, but he also teaches a deeply cultural psychology class to the mature students, namely seniors. Although he usually threatens to sit on at least one person each day, he is actually a very kind teacher who is interested in the future of his students. His hobbies include traveling and experimenting with the different foods he encounters in foreign countries.

Teachers Take Pride In F.H.S.

Mr. Binder and Mrs. Nestor not only do the required work as teachers, but also support school spirit. They participate in organized days and help to make F.H.S. a little bit better. Mr. Binder enjoys traveling, especially to California where he someday hopes to live. Mrs. Nestor is well-known around F.H.S. for being so spry and jolly. These two are adding something special to Fairless—a little bit of themselves and their enjoyment of life.

Linksters Look

The Fairless Golf team compiled a 7 and 18 record this season. Since the team was basically made up of underclassmen, the linksters hope to improve greatly on their record. The team's coach, Mr. Youngman, feels that the bright spots for the future will be juniors Ken DeBos and Brian Spurgeon. Captain of this year's team was Ken DeBos.

A perfect swing is demonstrated by sophomore Rick Lutes. 6. Sophomore Darrell Kamph sinks another shot. 7. Team captain Ken DeBos powerfully swings his club.

Cross Country

Tresse Leads Team

The 1980 Falcon Cross Country season turned out to be an exciting one! The Falcons wrapped up the season with the impressive record of 11-2. Senior Troy Tressel led the Falcon harriers to their winning season as he won the right to run at the State Meet.

To A.O.C. Crown

1. Troy Tressel crosses the finish line first, as usual! 2. The 1980 harriers include Captain Troy Tressel, Sam Sewell, Todd Rentsch, Matt DiMarzio, Rob Wanner, Ed Rentsch, Lewis Lahr, Lucas Harris, Andy Mann, Jerry Phelps, Mike Gessner, Donnie Tucker, Mike Pratt, Terry Bailey, statistician Michelle Warner, and, of course, Coach Warren Binder. 3. An assembly was held in honor of Troy when he qualified to go to State! 4. Matt DiMarzio strides the last few yards to the finish line. 5. Harriers warm up under the supervision of Coach Binder before the race.

Determined Falcons

The 1980 season was one of many ups and downs for the fighting Fairless Falcon football team. The team went 7-3 for the season, with losses to Orrville, Northwest and Manchester marring their record. They outscored opponents by a 157-79 point margin, making for an average scoring output of 16 points per game. A very stingy defense allowed only an average of about 7 points per game.

1. Head Coach Offenbecher gives some advice on the sidelines. 2. Chris D'Anniballe is over his own left side. 3. Dave Baker drops to pass. 4. The "Nut" squad goes into action against Waynedale. 5. Cheerleaders Have

The Varsity and Reserve cheerleaders began their season this past summer by attending the Golden Eagle Cheerleading Camp at Ohio University. Both squads received numerous awards which included a Golden Eagle Squad ribbon and a Spirit Stick for the school. They learned many new cheers and ideas that carried through both football and basketball season.

1. This year's Varsity cheerleaders include Chris Musacchia, Diane Pelosi, Jacquie Musacchia (captain), Beth Whitehead, Wendy Lautzenheiser and Lori Brode. 2. Have Diane Pelosi and Beth Whitehead created a new jump? 3. Reserve Squad members are (top to bottom) Tina Kohlmeier, Carol Marzulli, Mary Mirto, Tammy Burkhart, Allison Gander and captain Suzanne Hug. 4. '80-'81 Season Finds

Boys' Basketball

The 1980-81 Falcon basketball team finished their best regular season ever with 19 wins and only 2 losses. At one time during the season we were 9-0 and ranked 4th in the state. The Flock ended up sharing the A.O.C. crown with West Holmes and Orrville while placing above both in the state ratings. Our Falcons entered tournament action with high hopes only to be knocked out by previously beaten Northwest. Nevertheless, the 1981 Falcon basketball season will be remembered for a long time as "the year we were on top."

Compliments of Reidenbach's Sohio

The Falconette basketball team did extremely well this season. They provided many thrilling games for the fans. The Orrville game was the most exciting because the girls were beaten by Orrville a year earlier. This made the victory for the Falconettes even more thrilling. The Flconettes won the A.O.C. and advanced to the Sectionals, but were beaten by a team they had beaten earlier in the season, East Canton. Amy Bratcher captured the MVP, while Kathy Brediger received MIP. Ruth Dorkoff received a captain's award. Wendi Morrison, Amy Bratcher, and Ruth Dorkoff were members of the all-A.O.C. team.

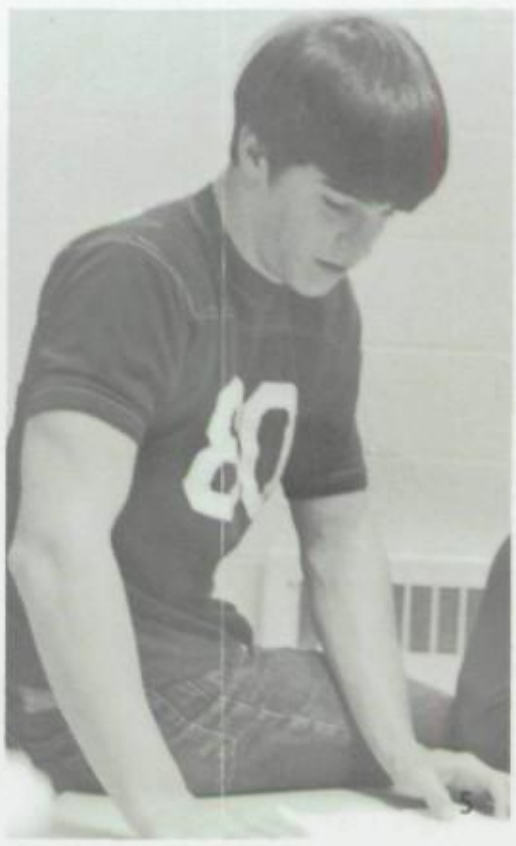
O.W.E. Members Learn And Earn

Occupation Work Experience is for many students an unique experience, one that allows many to finish their high school education and at the same time to be part of the work world while still in high school. Their mornings are spent in school; their afternoons, at work. They learn and earn. Part of their learning experience is the planning of their annual banquet for students and employers; this year's banquet was held at Town and Country in Canton to honor both students and employers.

1. O.W.E. students concentrate on class before leaving for work. 2. Chris Miller relaxes in class. 3. O.W.E. members are ready for the work world. 4. Denzil Collins wears his O.W.E. jacket. like many of his classmates.



Board Selects Top Teens

Teen Board's function is to work within the guidelines established by the Canton Repository for the selection of the outstanding teens from F.H.S. each month. These selections then compete with teens from other Stark County Schools for the opportunity to be honored as Stark County Teens of the Month.

1. Members of the Fairless Teen Board discuss this month's eligible candidates. 2. Freshman Board member Bonnie Whitehead searches for a "top teen." 3. Dale Dunlevy, the sophomore member, seems to enjoy his work on the Teen Board. 4. The 1981 Teen Board takes on the task of selecting the outstanding F.H.S. teens each month. 5. Staff Members Face Deadlines

Every month the members of the Falcon Review staff faced deadlines—deadlines for page layouts, for rough copy and for final copy (typewritten, of course). Putting together a newspaper every month is no easy task—dates change after a story has been written, projects are terminated and some ideas fizzle before they get going—but the Falcon Review survived, providing news and features every month.

1. Everybody gathers around to inspect a copy of the Falcon Review when it comes from the printer. 2. Jennifer Neubauer, editor, and Kelly McAfee, news editor, prepare their pages. 3. Mark Seese checks over an article. 4. Lisa Piciacchio takes some notes for a future article. 5. Review staff members are famous—for wandering the halls (in search of news, they say).

Athletes Earn Varsity F Membership

The members of Varsity F are really a hard-working group. Each of these people have earned at least one letter in a sport. The club of Varsity F gives the outstanding participants recognition for their achievements.

1. John Heather and Tom Beck meet fellow wrestler Wolfgang from West Germany. 2. Mike Cline eats a nourishing lunch so he can help the Flock put one in the win column. 3. It's really hard to pin the active Varsity F club down.

Fairless Y-Teens

The annual highlight of a Y-Teen member's year is the formal held in conjunction with other Stark County Y-Teen Chapters. Monthly meetings are held with a variety of programs to interest the many members. Y-Teen members and cabinet monthly select the Man-on-the-Move for recognition by the student newspaper.

Join In Activities

1. Y-Teen members confer about some up-coming plans. 2. The entire membership of Y-Teens gathers for a picture. 3. Kym Reidenbach discusses her committee's report with fellow officers. 4. President Elaine Schneider holds an informal officers' meeting. 5. Y-Teen officers worked under the supervision of advisor Mrs. Cindia.

Key Club Members

Key Club members are willing to tackle just about any task placed before them. Their activities during the 1980-81 school year were varied and earned them some praise from students. The Key Club annually sponsors Basketball Homecoming. Their assistance is needed whenever the Bloodmobile comes to F.H.S. They do a great service during the winter when they help park cars during the basketball season. This spring they co-sponsored a trip to a Cleveland Indians ball game.

Tackle Many Projects

1. This helpful student helps to keep the record board for wrestling current. 2. Key Club member Frank Moulos, Matt Hollinger, John Skirtich, Mark Fortner and John Heather fit their respective officer roles by carrying out their duties as assigned. 3. The Key Club members seem to enjoy themselves wherever they go. 4. John Skirtich, Dean Nelson and Mark Fortner check out the Nautilus equipment. 5. Mike Gerber and Doug Weisgarber take a well-deserved break.

Library Operates With Student Workers

The library workers are the people to consult when you are lost in the stacks. They are always ready to assist students in the library. Their duties range from shelving books and magazines to checking in and out the materials selected by students and teachers.

1. Is Holly Bergert actually blowing bubbles in the library? That's incredible! 2. The library workers pull themselves away from their jobs for a moment. 3. Lisa Arney works hard to keep the library files straight. 4. Barb Gaut takes her work seriously—for once!

Workers Volunteer Assistance

Many students of Fairless High School volunteer their assistance by being either an A.V. worker or a cafeteria worker. Cafeteria workers help out by running the cash register, washing trays and by keeping the cafeteria clean. The A.V. workers help Mr. Cochran by keeping track of the A.V. equipment and by helping others who need assistance in operating the A.V. equipment.

1. Dean Nelson, Jeff Klein, Eric Hysong, Steve Mayne, Jeff Wright, Patty Wilson and Michelle Miller comprise the A.V. workers. 2. Mark Harris seems to like being a cafeteria worker. 3. This bashful looking group consisting of Mark Shifflet, Mark Harris, Bill Pohovey, Tena Meyer, Barb Gaut, Susan Sheperd, Diane Pumneo, Lisa Gehring and Dan Miller make up the cafeteria workers.

Workers Aid Guidance Office

The guidance workers are very helpful to Mr. McLean and Mrs. Coen. They run errands for them and handle much of their busy work. The guidance workers also help out by learning to operate the OCIS terminal computer. You will always find a guidance worker rushing around from class to class trying to locate a certain student or students for guidance (especially during class registration!!).

1. Bobby Brown looks very confused as Chris Musacchia helps him in the guidance office. 2. Jennifer Wells holds back a smile as she tries not to notice the camera. 3. Tammy Ferrell, Angela Skirtich, Jennifer Wells, Tammy Tormasi, Wendi Morrison, Jennifer Bigler and Chris Musacchia enjoy helping the guidance counselors. 4. Wendi Morrison gives the camera one of her "ornery" looks as she punches something into the computer.

Students Gain Office Experience

Many students of Fairless High School gain office experience by working in the office. They perform a variety of jobs that range from answering the telephone to ringing the bell for class changes. This office experience is valuable because students learn to handle many different situations and many different people.

1. Jennifer Neubauer looks very absorbed with sorting through the attendance cards. 2. Barb Gaut and Curt Shepler seem to be up to something! 3. Lucy Small could pass for a secretary as she takes down a telephone message. 4. This group of students volunteer their time and enjoy helping out in the high school office.

Playhouse Takes Audience

Falcon Playhouse is a very special organization, but there is another special group within the Playhouse. No, not the Waahs—Thespians! In order to be a member of the International Thespian Board, certain requirements must be met. Candidates have to be a two-year member of Playhouse, thus each must be a sophomore. Also, at least 15 "Thespian points" must be earned by acting, dancing, or working on crews in the productions. From there, the members add up the points and climb to each degree until reaching Honor Bar at 60 points.

From The Fabulous 40's To Way Out West

1. The Falcon Playhouse Dancers work hard to get that Barry Manilow number just right! 2. Senior Playhouse members take time out from practice—once in a while. 3. Falcon Playhouse Thespians look as good on film as they do on stage. 4. Falcon Playhouse seems to grow bigger and bigger every year! 5. It's sign-in time! 6. Melissa Pisani and Ruth Anne Numbers relax before dance practice.

Choir Earns #1

This year the Select Choir participated in many assemblies. They performed at Belden Village during Christmas, and sang a new traditional song on Class Day and at Graduation. The Select Choir received a #1 in district and in state competition.

At State Contest

1. Kathy Brediger, Lori Stertzbach and Darlene Ehmer look enthusiastic about the song they're singing. 2. Amy Diotale smiles to herself in choir. 3. These happy faces make up the 1980-81 Select choir. 4. Jane Schneider, Steve Popernack and Brad Offenbecher practice hard for the spring contest. 5. These choir members compose the Sunrise Ensemble.

Band Performs

The Super Blue Marching Machine had a very exciting year. Band officers Julie Fritz, Carla Viles, Mike Cline and Judy Woods, along with directors Mr. Crum and Miss Stavanna, helped the band to have a successful year. Award winners for the year were Judy Woods, with the John Philip Sousa Award, Mike Cline with the 1st chair award, and class award winners Laurie Sampsel, Ruth Ann Numbers and Joe Poloski.

Under New Director

1. Tami Drage performs a silly, but cute dance during the half time show at a football game. 2. The Super Blue Marching Machine shows their stuff! 3. The band members proudly smile for a picture. 4. The concert band prepares for their spring pops concert. 5. Gary Kelley and Jim Majors rehearse a duet. 6. Fred Ricer waits for his cue. 7. Band members Mike Cline, Joe Polaski, Judy Woods, Laurie Sampsel and RuthAnn Numbers received awards at the spring banquet. 8. Two members of the trombone section do a little extra practicing.

Student Council Activities

Student Council's activities are a varied as its membership is large. Responsible for student assemblies, Student Council sponsored a talent show and a return of the popular Sunshine Express group. Giving recognition to the staff, they sponsored Teacher Appreciation Day; and to give students a greatly-need break in the routine, TREND Day was repeated. Hosting senior citizens, holding elections and conducting the day- to-day business were also some of the many activities of Student Council.

Are Numerous and Varied

1. Mike Gerber becomes a willing model during the hair styling class on TREND Day. 2. Beth Dulcie and Chris Draime schedule juniors and seniors for TREND Day. 3. Mr. Snyder gets a trim from Terri Kimble. 4. Chris Zearley, Mike Cline and Craig Tasseff comprise the Senior Trio who entertained at the talent show sponsored by Student Council. 5. Steve Papernack's music captures his attention and the applause of the audience. 6. Ziro Hecan band made for a grand finale at the talent show. 7. The Student Council officers get together to pose: Judy Woods, treasurer; Julie Page, recording secretary; Curt Shepler, president; Carla Viles, vice-president; and Alison Hoffa, corresponding secretary. 8. Beth Dulcie sings during the talent show. 9. The Student Council members find time to sit down and smile.

N.H.S. Recognizes

The honor of being a member of National Honor Society doesn't end with a tapping ceremony, an induction and a tea. N.H.S. members are recognized at graduation, hold a banquet in the spring and are treated to a day away from F.H.S. for an educational field trip. This year's banquet, held at the Holiday Inn in Massillon, featured speaker Doug Adair.

Students' Scholastic Efforts

1. Jacquie Musacchio takes the plunge and enjoys the pool at Walsh. 2. These seniors were honored as the fall inductees of National Honor Society. 3. These two-year members of N.H.S. were tapped and inducted during their junior year. 4. Spring inductees took the pledge at the spring banquet at the Holiday Inn. 5. It's easy to see these N.H.S. juniors are enjoying their field trip to Walsh. 6. N.H.S. members listen intently—both in school and out. 7. Serving as officers for 1981-82, these newly-elected juniors are ready for all the hard work ahead. 8. Tammy Ferrell and Julie Fritz seem to think the pool water's a bit chilly.

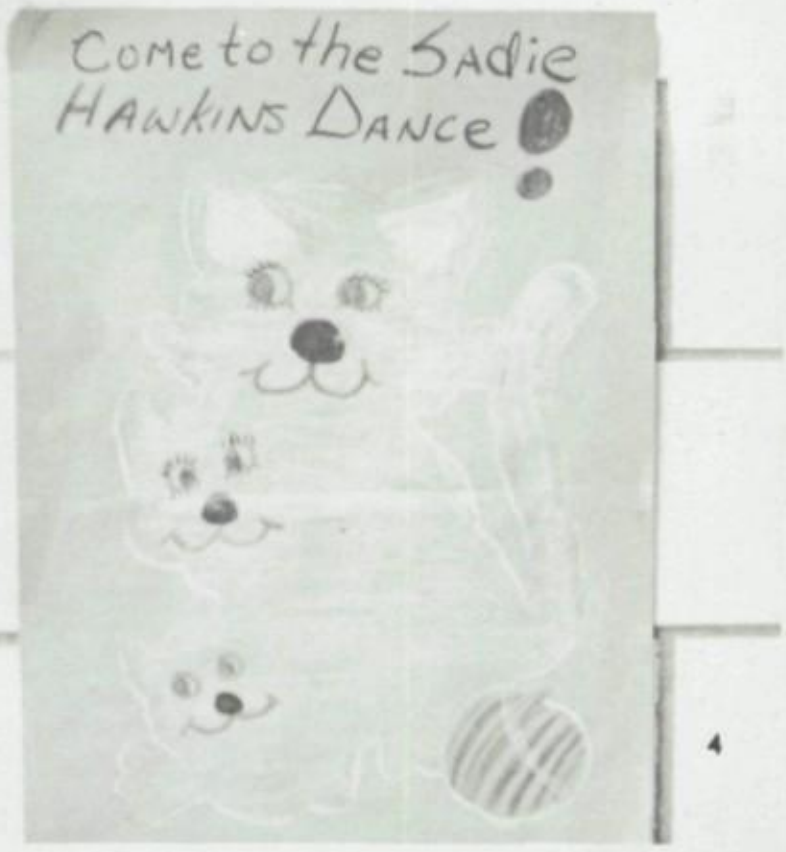
Skiers Hit The Slopes

The Fairless Ski Club enjoyed many fun and exciting days at Brandywine this winter. Under the leadership of Mr. Totten, ski club members eagerly awaited the first snow and the beginning of the skiing season. For a rental and/or lift fee, students had the opportunity to become skiers, graduates of the beginners' lessons and familiar with the basics of skiing.

1. Wendy Judd seems to be enjoying her day on the slopes. 2. Two F.H.S. skiers try not to get caught while chain skiing down the hill. 3. Rodney Ross demonstrates his keen ability to snowplow on level ground. 4. The Fairless Ski Club members seem bored with warm summer weather. 5. Carol Indorf prepares herself for an exciting day in the snow.



Variety Marks Year For F.H.A.

The Future Homemakers sponsored many activities and contests this year, ranging from a cake decorating contest to dances and ribbon days. Led by advisor Mrs. Dawson and president Lucy Smail, the 1981 F.H.A. made their presence known throughout the school and the community.

1. Jennifer Bigler and Chris Draime help with the Bloodmobile. 2. F.H.A. students gather together to smile for the camera and the annual yearbook photo. 3. Students show off their cakes decorated for a contest. 4. Signs show the different activities which were sponsored by F.H.A. this year.

Pride Shown By Spirit Boosters

The members of Spirit Boosters worked hard all year to promote "Blue Pride." Pep rallies, skits and hall decorations encouraged our teams on to victory. Our new Mascot Freddie the Falcon Fan gave the Spirit Boosters a hand. With strong leadership from underclassmen, this organization sponsored a successful dance for students with a band, dance contest and a variety of prizes.

1. Spirit Boosters gather outside for aggroup shot. 2. Johnny Hughes tops a "spirit pyramid." 3. Missy McCardle dresses up as a tourist to collect money on "Penny Pinch" day. 4. Greg Winkhart and Danny Miller give Freddie a welcoming hug.

Math-Science Learns How? and Why?

Scientists need to know the how and why of things, and the members of the Math-Science Club of F.H.S. are no exception. Meeting after school under the guidance of Mr. Gruber, these students explore their special areas of interest.

1. Club members gather for an after-school meeting. 2. Danny Berlyoung and Fred Ricer get some of Mr. Gruber's expert assistance. 3. Steve Popernack and Mark Diekmann wait patiently for the meeting to get underway. 4. A cool breeze and the warm sun please the members of the Math-Science Club as they pose for a photo.

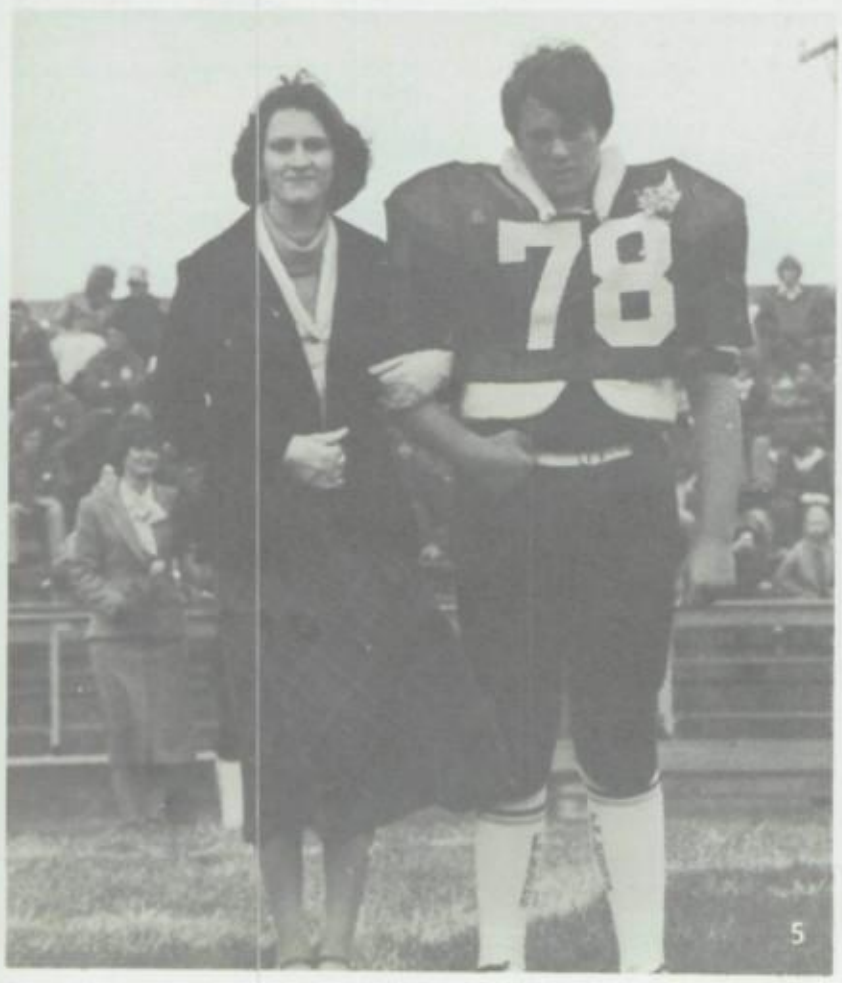
Homecoming

The Fairless Student Council sponsored the 1980 Homecoming festivities. The theme of "Those Were the Days," was elaborated upon during the cool October day. The afternoon was considered a total success with our lovely Queen Chris Abraham being crowned in a ceremony featuring antique cars and the 1960 Queen Jean Jacobs Fodor. The Queen and her Court were also honored with a Falcon victory over non-league foe Sandy Valley. To round out the day, a dance was held that evening in the cafeteria, which was decorated according to the theme.

Remembered – "Those Were The Days"



1. Beth Whitehead, junior attendant, was escorted by varsity defensive back, Jerry Ungashick. 2. Queen Chris Abraham's smiles were for the crowd and her escort John Skirtich. 3. The 1980 Football Homecoming Queen and Court appear with the 1960 Queen, Mrs. Jean Fodor. 4. The sophomore attendant, Lisa Arney, rushed back from a varsity volleyball tournament to appear with Randy Bing. 5. Dianne Pumneo, senior attendant, chose Greg Winkhart as her escort. 6. Elected by the freshman class as their attendant, Lori Winkhart was escorted by Chad Agnes.

Falcon Playhouse

1. The play opens with all actors singing "Deep in the Heart of Texas." Shown here are Bill Pohovey and Jennifer Neubauer. 2. Julie Fritz and Carla Viles sing together in the musical "Oklahome." 3. Steve Popernack plays the piano in "Westward Ho!" as Paul Talbott portrays Sostoic. 4. Mary Anne Levengood, Lori Stertzbach and Judie Snyder are all actresses in "Westward Ho!" 5. A make-up crew member applies Paul Talbott's make-up before the play.

Goes Way Out . . . West!

Falcon Playhouse had another rip-roaring success this fall with the dinner theater production of "Falcon Playhouse Goes Way Out . . . West." The play ran on the nights of November 14 and 15.

After chowing down on a frontier meal, the hombres and their ladies were headed to the auditorium and were greeted with the sounds of "Deep in the Heart of Texas." The first act was "Westward Ho!", a melodrama where the villain, Ralph Rotten, was defeated in the end.

Then the Falcon Playhouse Dancers gave their rendition of the can-can. The famous and the infamous women of the old West shared their contributions to history in "Wild West Women."

Next was "Annie Get Your Gun" where Annie proved that women can do anything as well as a man. After that came a scene from "Oklahoma." Ado Annie might not have gotten her man, but she had a real good time trying.

The Playhouse Singers entertained the audience with western favorites. The end of the show was a reprise of "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

1. Brian Anstine escorts the unsuspecting Wendi Morrison to the center of the gym. 2. The Queen and her court stand posed with their ceremonial roses. 3. Wendi Morrison feels joyful as she opens her box with the red roses inside. 4. Wendy Fowler is led by Dean Nelson to the place of honor. 5. Lisa Sword and her escort John Skirtich stand waiting for the big moment. 6. Wendi Morrison stands before her public while being serenaded. 7. Chris Zearly and Karen Diotale anticipate the revealing of the queen. 8. Elise Meyer and Dan Poth wait by the Falcon for the naming of the queen.

Homecoming Extra Special For Our Queen

Basketball Homecoming ceremonies for 1981 were slated for the night the Flock faced Manchester. Our lovely queen Wendi Morrison was serenaded by senior Greg Schumacher's rendition of "Lady," which was the theme for the homecoming. At the dance sponsored by the Key Club after the game, the music was provided by S.W.B. Electronics.

1. Greg Schumacher and Matt Wald get into their parts as Abbott and Costello. 2. Judie Snyder catches a fainting Dwayne Lallathin during a scene from "Miracle at Morgan's Creek." 3. Playing the parts of Burns and Allen gave Cindy Hewitt and Scott Croskey a chance to re-live old radio shows. 4. Enjoying a dance are Judie Snyder as "Trudy" and Erich Dominik as a soldier. 5. Baby Snooks, otherwise known as Julie Fritz, makes life miserable for her father Paul Talbott and teacher Susie McGrath. 6. A new face on stage, Kathy Brediger, waits to for the right moment to break into song. 7. The classic "Casablanca" is the scene shown here with Steve Popernack and Kelly McAfee. 8. Barry Manilow's song inspires the Playhouse Dancers.

Bringing back the "Fabulous '40's" was Playhouse's spring production. Aided by the stage band and the return of graduates known as the "Return Engagements" the nights of May 22 and 23 found members of Playhouse bringing back memories of radio shows, big band music and unforgettable movies.

Fabulous '40's Remembered By Playhouse

1. Dan Poth, with his date, is unique, even in a tux. 2. Seniors Mike Cline, Brian Anstine and Chris Zearley relax with their sophomore dates, Tina Kohlmeier, Lisa Arney and Allison Gander. 3. Scott Piciacchia and Michelle Ladich dance with the crowd. 4. Curt Shepler, Tammy Ferrell, Mike Heckathorn and Vicki Foutty enjoy the prom. 5. Windfall makes music. 6. Jacquie Musacchia and Jerry Davis are caught off guard by the camera. 7. Everyone is boogie-ing down to Windfall.

Juniors Provide "An Evening In Paradise"

The Fairless Junior-Senior Prom was held May 16, 1981, at the Canal Fulton Dinner Theatre. The prom-goers enjoyed a smorgasboard before the dancing began. Prom festivities began at 8:00 p.m. when the band Windfall began to play. The juniors had promised a splendid time for all, and no one was disappointed.

Fun Night, sponsored by the junior class, was held a week before the prom on May 9 at the Jewish Center in Canton. Activities included ping pong, pool, swimming from 9-11 and basketball in the gymnasium. Juniors and seniors danced and listened to the music of Chaser while munching potato chips and hot dogs.

1. Steve Mayne plans his strategy. 2. Kelly Raff, Loretta Baker, Beth Balyeat and Sharon Lewis enjoy themselves after swimming. 3. Everyone is having fun. 4. Couples crowd the dance floor. 5. Loretta Baker, Mike Raff and Jeff Klein watch the dance floor. 6. The crowd dances on. 7. Connie Payne and her date enjoy their evening with Donnette Bickford and Scott Wiles. 8. Peggy Blythe and Graydon Wohlheter take a rest from dancing.

Class Day is held each year to honor students who have accomplished much during their years at F.H.S. Departmental awards as well as athletic awards and scholarship recipients are honored by students and faculty alike. Awards that are much coveted are the Outstanding Boy and Outstanding Girl who are selected by the staff of F.H.S. The Principal's Award goes to a student who best represents F.H.S.

Graduation for the class of '81 will be a day long-remembered by members of the class and their families. Junior processional leaders, the choir and the band added their assistance in making the day a special one for the graduates. Class speakers were selected by the class and the staff. For their contributions to F.H.S., the class of '81 will be remembered.

Danny,
To a real nice guy who I have known for a long time. Remember all the fun & crazy times we had. I know there will be a lot more.
Stay out of trouble
& be good. Good Luck in everything you attempt in life.

Barry,
To a really sweet guy I met in 8th grade. Remember the fun times of getting Scott into trouble by me. Good luck in the future. Love
